Clean Energy ETFs Cleaned up in 2013

The strength of alternative energy exchange traded funds in 2013 warrants being placed into context. Not only are four of the 10 best, including the top three, sector funds this year alternative energy plays, but those four occupy half the spots among the top eight non-leveraged ETFs of any stripe.

. . . .

... The Powershares Wilderhill Clean Energy Portfolio (NYSEArca: PBW) is another alternative energy ETF to keep an eye on in 2014 as that fund has a 2013 gain of over 58%. SolarCity and Tesla combine for 5.1% of PBW's weight.

. . . .